Profile of the College

K.H. Government Degree College located in Dharmavaram, popularly known as the Silk-City of Andhra Pradesh, was established in 1982 to cater the needs of rural and downtrodden section of the town and the surrounding villages. Its avowed mission is to produce useful and well-meaning graduates with a secular and democratic out-look.

With a humble beginning and gradual growth, the College has been providing education to the wards of poor families who work at silk houses. It has been establishing cordial relations with the community who are always willing to extend their helping hand for the development of the college. The uniqueness of the college is that it is the only college that offers Sociology in the State. It has been introducing the new courses such as Computer Applications, most recently Tourism and Travel, keeping in view of the demand. The College has enough infrastructure and excellent sports equipment to serve the requirements of the students. It has been organizing various academic, cultural, and sports events and winning the laurels from the other colleges in the district. Indeed, it has produced a large number of responsible personalities in all walks of life. The erstwhile hockey state-level hockey and chess players were the products of this college.

The Teaching Staff is committed and hardworking always aiming at imparting meaningful and impartial education and striving towards to offer quality education, to improve the standards of the students, to ignite their minds, to develop their critical acumen, and above all transform them into a good human being. They interact with the students in a friendly and empathetic manner and feel responsible to teach all the essential skills that the students should possess and achieve their goals.
